

FREDRICK MILLER

EMPLOYEE OF THE YEAR 2018

Fred Miller began his career at Willow Run Foods on July 28, 2007. Fred has become a considerable asset to our Receiving Department. He has worked several different positions in his time here at Willow Run Foods. He started off as a PM Receiver then moved to the damage and distress area for several years. Fred returned as a receiver when a morning position opened up.

Fred's main focus was to unload backhauls and strips, to clear doors for daily scheduled appointments. He was responsible for unloading, checking in, break down, and put away of the backhauls. Once this task was complete he would then move onto the scheduled over the road deliveries. Fred proved he could perform very well at these tasks and soon became one of our main Dry Receivers. He was very accurate with the checking in of loads and adapted well to our new WMS system. When he came across any damages or discrepancies on a load he immediately would contact the appropriate buyer and resolve the situation.

When the new Saputo storage business began, Fred took on the challenge and was responsible for receiving all incoming product. He has done an excellent job handling the added aspects to our normal receiving protocol and helped streamline the process. Fred kept our contacts at Saputo very well informed with any product issues thanks to detailed e-mail correspondences. Fred has also learned how to perform the other warehouse duties involving Saputo such as picking, loading and extensive clerical computer work.

During his time here at Willow Run Foods he has volunteered to help where needed and to work additional weekends. With that being said he showed interest in our Food Safety programs and took a course to become certified in FSMA. He now assists Dave Zelenyak in reviewing and writing new programs to maintain a very intense Food Safety program.

Fred's attendance and versatility make him a valued asset to Willow Run Foods. Therefore, we would like to recognize Fred Miller's contributions by honoring him as 2018 Employee of the Year!
